

HELLO AGAIN

VOL 17 NO. 6

NOV-DEC 1986

CONVENTION HIGHLIGHTS: The FRIENDS OF OLD-TIME RADIO had its annual Convention on October 24th and 25th, 1986, at the Holiday Inn-North, Newark, New Jersey. Many celebrities were present. Those receiving awards were: Warren Bryan, Vivian Della Chiesa, Alfred De La Fuente, Louise Erickson, Gilbert Mack, Shirley Mitchell, Sara Seegar, Willard Waterman. Other guests present were: George Ansbrosio, Jackson Beck, Ward Byron, Fran Carlson, Lon Clark, Nancy Coleman, Humphrey Davis, Ruth Franklin, Jimmy Fiedler, Ed Herlihy, Pat Hosley, Raymond Edward Johnson, Evie Juster, Ann Loring, Peg Lynch, Ted Malone, James Monks, Bill Owen, Alice Reinheart, Rosa Rio, Ken Roberts, Lynne Rogers, Adele Ronson, Terry Ross and Bob Luban, Ruth Russell, Sidney Slon, Ezra Stone, Arthur Tracy, Blair Walliser, Dwight Weist, Florence Williams, Betty Wragge, Alice Yourman. The guests socialized with fans and re-created 3 radio shows.

The convention began on Friday at 12:00 noon when the dealers tables opened. There were 34 tables used...172 people attended the dinner with another 39 in the afternoon. Video tapes of radio-tv shows were shown both days with 2 special Great Gildersleeve tv shows brought in by Willard Waterman. Workshops included: Repair of tape recorders (M. Schantzen); Computers (T Monroe); Situation comedy panel with Peg Lynch and Willard Waterman (R Lackmann and C Lembesis); Suspense (G Yoggy). After dinner an episode of The Whistler was re-created. Musical entertainment, trivia and sing-a-long was then presented by Jay Hickerson.

On Saturday at 9:00 dealers tables opened and workshops started including: Collecting Experts (R Barnett); Trivia using game shows (M Weisberg); Restoring old radios (D Roth); Lon Clark reminiscing about Nick Carter on its 100th anniversary; Tom Mix re-creation by Dave Warren and his exciting acting troupe; An hour with Raymond Edward Johnson; Music panel (T DeLong); re-creation of The Aldrich Family starring and directed by Ezra Stone with several members of the original cast.

Saturday's events culminated with cocktails and a buffet feast for 287 people. Approximately 420 people attended the entire day. After dinner Gilbert Mack entertained us with songs; Blair Walliser reminisced about his early days; Rosa Rio presented a selection of show tunes and then joined with Ted Malone for "Between the Bookends." The Great Gildersleeve was then re-created with Willard Waterman in the starring role with Shirley Mitchell and Louise Erickson in their original roles. Music was supplied by Rosa Rio and sound effects were by Terry Ross and Bob Luban.

The awards were then given. A special award was presented to Max Schmid for the work he and Jack Shugg have done with their show on WBAI, The Golden Age of Radio. The Allen Rockford Award was given to Frank Bresee for the 20 years of his show, "The Golden Days of Radio." SPERDVAC presented Jay Hickerson with a special congratulatory award. SPERDVAC was very well represented with almost their entire board present.

I want to again thank all the guests who were very gracious in granting interviews and giving their time to be with us.

'Amos'n'Andy' Documentary Release Stirs Controversy

BY AKIVA KAMINSKY

NEW YORK "Amos'n'Andy: Anatomy Of A Controversy" has spawned controversy from its inception and continues to draw fire from certain quarters.

The 55-minute, $29.95 retrospective was first released to the syndicated broadcast/cable markets in 1984. Formal announcement of the home video release was made at the Video Software Dealers Assn. convention in Las Vegas. Ship date is Oct. 30.

The announcement followed by a few days a major media splash that augured continuing controversy. Producer Michael Avery, president of the San Diego-based Avery Home Video Co., had just appeared on "Entertainment Tonight" to defend his show against critics who charged him with commercial exploitation.

Willis Edwards, head of the Beverly Hills chapter of the National Assn. of the Advancement of Colored People, appearing on the "ET" segment with Avery, said he was going to suggest to the NAACP's national council that it organize a boycott of the show's retailers.

"For video, that's the kind of publicity you're happy to get," said Avery. "If anybody's going to make a big fuss out of it, everyone's going to want to see it." Continuing such publicity is Avery's main plan for grabbing the public's attention. TV Guide is preparing a four-color spread, he says. Several talk shows have expressed interest in the story.

The video is being distributed by Ray Atherton Distribution, Burbank, Calif. (which bootlegged "Amos'n'Andy" episodes until CBS cracked down), in association with Maljack Productions, Chicago. Maljack Productions has budgeted about $15,000 for advertising in various video trade magazines.

The package displays the well-known picture of Amos, Andy and the Kingfish in a colorized photo. Avery predicts sales of 10,000-20,000 units for the title through the conventional video specialty store network. The final sales total, however, may ultimately depend on the public's perception of the controversy, which has dogged the special from its beginning in 1981.

Avery first conceived of this production as an exploration both of the radio and television aspects of the controversy. "We tried to come out with a balanced show, not stacked in favor of 'Amos'n'Andy.'" He didn't expect the program to become controversial itself.

CBS, copyright owner of the 78 extant episodes (produced between 1951 and 1953 and in syndication until 1966), agreed to allow Avery use of 22 minutes of clips at $2,000 per minute. The network has no plans to rerelease the episodes in any form.

Avery came up with a script and rounded up surviving actors Ernestine Wade (Sapphire) and Alvin Childress (Amos). Nick Stuart (Lightning) did not appear because of financial considerations. Three people associated with the original show, including Wade, passed away between the time CBS granted the license and its airing.

The video, hosted by comedian George Kirby, features interviews with survivors, long-suppressed footage from a virtually complete episode, brief scenes and one-liners, and clips of the original white actors in the radio studio and in black face on film. Black leaders such as Jesse Jackson and retired NAACP public relations director Henry Lee Moon both speak well of the show, as do Redd Foxx and Marla Gibbs.

When Avery's three-year broadcast TV license for use of the clips ran out July 1986, he exercised his video option: CBS granted him a narrow two-year license, which took effect in July. "You'd have to classify it as a sleeper," said Avery. "It made its way out there, aired in a number of markets, and now it's perfect for home video."
